CLAIMS:

10

- 1. A brushing attachment for an electric toothbrush, comprising:
- 5 a neck extending in a longitudinal direction of the brushing attachment,
 - a head at a remote end of the neck,
 - a driveshaft extending in a longitudinal direction of the neck and having a rotation axis extending in the longitudinal direction,
 - a tuft block mounted to the head for oscillation about a pivot axis extending substantially normally to the rotation axis of the driveshaft,
- a cam attached to or formed integrally with the 15 driveshaft and providing a cam surface surrounding the longitudinal axis and being of varied displacement in the longitudinal direction, and

 - a cam follower associated mechanically with the tuft block and bearing against the cam surface to effect
- 20 pivotal oscillation of the tuft block about the pivot axis.
 - 2. The brushing attachment of Claim 1, wherein the head comprises a fixed pin on which the tuft block is mounted.
- 25 3. The brushing attachment of Claim 1 wherein the cam follower comprises a lever that pivots about an axis that extends across and in a direction substantially normally to the rotation axis of the driveshaft.

- 4. The brushing attachment of Claim 3 further comprising a connecting rod attached at one end to the cam follower and at its other end to the tuft block that a position offset radially from the tuft block pivot axis.
- 5. The brushing attachment of Claim 4 further comprising one or more seals between the connecting rod and the neck.
- 10 6. The brushing attachment of Claim 1 wherein the cam extends to the head and interacts directly with the tuft block.

- 7. The brushing attachment of Claim 6 wherein the cam
 15 follower is attached to or formed integrally with the tuft block.
- 8. The brushing attachment of Claim 7 wherein the cam follower is parallel to and spaced from the pivot axis of the tuft block.
 - 9. The brushing attachment of Claim 7 further comprising a seal between the shaft and the neck.
- 25 10. An electric toothbrush having the brushing attachment of any one of the preceding claims attached thereto or formed integrally therewith.
